Coming Election Should Be Friendly

There should be a minimum of personal antagonism among the candidates in the forthcoming election, as all have been closely connected in recent years.

All three are residents of Carstairs; all are members of the same church; and Comby Gillespie and R. C. Bell are members and officers of the Masonic Lodge

Camp Meeting Begins July 27

The Didsbury annual camp meeting of the M.B.C. Church, will commence on Tuesday evening, July 27, and will continue until Sunday, Aug. 6.

Rev. H. E. Miller, of Ohio, will be the evangelist, and Mr. A. Dyck, of Portland, will be in charge of the singing. Services will be held morning, afternoon and evening.

The speaker at the Young People's meetings will be Rev. A. Neufeld, of Roy, Washington.

Weddings

ROSS LEWIS

A very pretty wedding was solemnized at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Sherrick recently, when Mrs. Sherrick's sister, Sgt. Myrtle Irene Lewis, of the R.C.A.F. (W.D.), became the bride of Mr. Allan Ross, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. Ross, Calgary. Rev. E. Archer officiated.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride looked lovely in a floor-length gown of white sheer. She carried a bouquet of red roses. Mrs. Abe Neufeld, sister of the bride, was her attendant.

Mr. Douglas Brooker, brother-in-law of the groom, acted as best man.

Mr. and Mrs. Ross spent their honeymoon in Banff. For travel, the bride wore a light blue crepe suit with white accessories.

Beef Club Sale at Munro Farm, Carstairs.

The annual joint fair and sale of the Beef Calf Clubs will be held at Mr. J. Munro's farm at Carstairs, will be held this Friday, July 21, and judging will commence at 10 a.m.

The clubs who will exhibit and sell their calves are Didsbury West, Carstairs, Madden and Grainger.

There will be 90 calves exhibited and sold and the sale is large enough to attract many leading buyers.

W.M.S. Convention N.W. Canada Branch

The North West Women's Missionary Society of the Evangelical church, met for its tenth annual Convention July 17, at the Alberta Camp on the banks of the Little Red Deer River, 20 miles west of Didsbury.

President, Mrs. A. Gauerke, of Winnipeg, presided in her congenial and capable manner.

A number of officers and guests were in attendance and were welcomed by Mrs. A. Amacher of Didsbury. Reports of officers showed an increase numerically and spiritually and financially.

The W.M.S. sessions were most helpful, not only for inspiration but also for instruction.

The sixtieth anniversary was observed, with different members taking part. For every decade a candle was lit, which made it impressive.

An appreciate gift of $60 was given to the Branch as an appreciation to Mrs. Daum's work, who has been President for years.

The convention closed with an installation of officers, conducted by Dr. W. W. Krueger.

The officers elected for the coming year are: President, Mrs. A. Gauerke, Winnipeg; 1st vice-president, Mrs. Berscht, Didsbury; 2nd vice-president, Mrs. Kopp, Vancouver; co-secretary, Mrs. Amacher, Didsbury; rec-secretary Mrs. Grams, Vegreville; treasurer, Mrs. Magais, Regina.

Splendid Exhibits Good Weather for Didsbury Fair.

It was ideal weather for the Fair on Wednesday and there was a very good attendance.

There was outstanding exhibits of livestock, all of which was local, indicating the excellent quality of stock raised in this district.

There were over 500 entries, which included 83 horses, 121 cattle and 175 entries in domestic science and fancy work.

The boys and girls of the Didsbury Calf Club are to be complimented on the splendid exhibit in their section of the fair.

The judges who were all from the Department of Agriculture, were: Dairy Cattle, J. W. Horsforth; Beef Cattle, A. J. Chamestski; Horses, J. Mitchell; Poultry and Swine, M. W. Malvon, and Ladies' Work, Miss Alford, Red Deer, District Home Economist.

The races were somewhat disappointing, there being only 13 horses to make the open run with P. Rau's Buddy Knap taking 1st, and Rau's "Rex" 2nd, and D. Johnson's "Brownie" 3rd, in both heats.

In the pony race, Dorn Gillrie's "Rex" won 1st place, and Phyllis Rand's "Flash" second.

Bobby Cullen's "Rusty" won 1st in the Shetland pony race, with Freddy Fleck's "Prince" 2nd, and Ira Roberts' "Polly" third.

Geo. Haag, of Carstairs, as usual was in the judge's stand.

There was a good programme of children's sports, and two bicycle races.

The eight-team softball tournament was still in progress as we go to press.

Crystal Dairy Installs New Equipment

A new Toledo Bulls-Eye Cream Scale has been installed on the platform at the Crystal Dairy. This is the latest in cream scales and is the first to be installed in the west. Considerable new equipment is now on the way to be installed at the creamery.

Locals.

Messrs. Chas. Dickau and John E. Liesemer were delegates from the Didsbury C.C.F. group at the convention held at Acme, Wednesday of last week.

Word has been received that Mr. John Hilsop has graduated with a B.A. degree at the University of California at Los Angeles. He will, however, continue his studies for an M.A. degree.

Mr. P. W. Shephard, who has been manager of the U.G.G. Elevator here for the past year, has been transferred back to Daugh, near Edmonton. He will be succeeded by Mr. Sproule, who comes here from Ardena, near Camrose.

The Westcott W.L. picnic is being held at the home of Mrs. Jack Robertson on Thursday, July 27th. Races and ball games at 2 p.m. to be followed by a wiener roast. Wiener and coffee provided; please bring own buns. Members and friends welcome.

At the C.C.F. nominating convention held in Acme July 12th, R. C. Bell, a prominent farmer of the Carstairs district, was nominated to contest the Didsbury Constituency. Over sixty delegates and visitors were present. H. A. Evans, a young University student, whose father operates a large farm at Three Hills, was chosen as campaign manager.

Meetings are being arranged for to cover the constituency.

Obituary

Wm. BAUDISTEL

William Baudistel died suddenly at his farm at Westcott on Wednesday, July 12.

Born at Stuttgart, Germany, he came to Canada in 1914, settling in Saskatchewan. He married Helen Blessing in 1916 at Regina, and they lived at Lipton, Sask., until 1922, when they came to Red Deer. Two years later they came to the Didsbury district and settled at Westcott, where they have since resided.

Surviving are his wife and two sons, Cpl. Alfred with the R.C.A.S.C. in Italy; and Adolph at Didsbury.

The funeral services were held at the United Church, Westcott, with Rev. D. Whyte Smith officiating. The burial was at the Westcott cemetery.

W. A. McFarquhar had charge of the funeral services.

School Fines Benefit Red Cross

A novel way of raising money for the Prisoners-of-War Fund was adopted by the pupils of grades 4 and 5, at the Didsbury public school. They agreed to fine themselves one cent for small irregularities such as slamming doors, being late, not having done homework, etc.

And there were lots of fines, for, on Friday they handed in $7.26 to the treasurer of the Red Cross. That figures out an average of 22 fines for each pupil.

Thanks

I wish to thank those who supported me as a member of the Legislature. Owing to ill health, I am retiring from public life.

I would appreciate your support for Mr. C. C. Gillespie, the Independent Candidate for the Didsbury Constituency.

Both the officers and the boys are to be complimented on again winning this trophy which is competed for by all the air cadet squadrons north of Calgary, with the exception of the city of Edmonton.

Hitler's Helpers

"There's one man Hitler need not be afraid of"

This is what one person was heard to say to another as he saw a staggering soldier. How tragically true!

Of all the enemies within the camp, booze ranks as an easy first. "Hitler's friend and ally" would be an appropriate description for the whole despicable, traitorous, mercenary booze traffic.

Recruits From Many Countries Form Viretable Foreign Legion In The R.C.A.F. Women's Division

ALMOST 1,000 girls from outside Canada have enlisted in the R.C.A.F. Women's Division since its organization three years ago. The majority are from countries in the British Empire. The second greatest number is from the United States. Within the R.C.A.F. Women's Division has grown a veritable "Foreign Legion" who wear shoulder flashes reading Switzerland, Czechoslovakia, France, Great Britain, Newfoundland, Argentina, United States, Ukraine, and Mexico.

Seeking to serve against a common enemy, these girls have found their way to Canadian recruiting centres and have promised to serve "for the duration" in many capacities. Surnames like Jeronholm, Ozpiko, Mazzini and Proskouriakoff, indicate their nationalities. The Nazi war machine has enveloped the homelands of some in its grip. Their desire to help lift oppression in Europe led them to enlist.

Flight Officer Ruth Jeronholm, W.D. officer at an R.C.A.F. station in Newfoundland, is a native of Denmark but since she lived in Winnipeg prior to the war does not wear "Denmark" shoulder flashes.

Airmwoman Gertrude Fry of Peace River, Alta., a cook stationed at Yalson, is known for her "Switzerland" flashes. Daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ferdinand Fry, she was born in Lucerne, Switzerland, and came to Canada some years ago.

Another member of the "Foreign Legion" serving at an R.C.A.F. Station in Newfoundland known by her captivating accent and "France" shoulder badges, is LAW Jacqueline Williams. Born in Paris, she was in New York visiting when war broke out and was unable to return to her native land. It took her several months to convince the R.C.A.F. recruiting centre that she was really anxious to join up but it was tough sledding as "Jacky" was not a Canadian citizen.

Airmwoman Frances Cochran of Dryden, Ont., joined after her native village in Poland was razed by the Germans. Airmwoman Jenny Ozpiko of Holden, Alta., and Airmwoman Elizabeth Anne Oleschuk of Winnipeg Beach, Man., were both born in the Ukraine of Austrian parents.

Airmwoman Anna Mazin of Toronto was born in Czechoslovakia and wears that country's name proudly on her Canadian uniform. All four have relatives in Europe of whose fate nothing has been heard.

Flight Sgt. Helen Robinson, a Russian girl, and her English husband, recently residents of South America both enlisted in the R.C.A.F. Helen in Moscow, Cpl. Robinson, nee Helen Proskouriakoff, has relatives in her native city who are proud of her service in an Allied uniform.

LAW Edith Walker of Tampico Mexico, stationed at Air Force Headquarters, Ottawa, and LAW M. Asher of the Argentine, in Western Air Command, are representatives of our Latin American neighbors who found their way north to "get in the fight."

From within the empire, Newfoundland shoulder flashes are the most common and many girls have received postings to R.C.A.F. stations on their native island. Many girls who have fled from the British West Indies—the Barbadoes, Jamaica, and Bermuda.

Girls from Great Britain in Canada at the outbreak of war, or who had been evacuated as children and reached their 18th birthday in Canada enlisted in great numbers, hoping that they might be posted "home." Many have reached U.K.

"U.S.A." shoulder flashes are perhaps the best known. More than 150 have enlisted in the Women's Division. New Zealand and South Africa are represented in the W.D. "Foreign Legion", as well as Chinese girls Canadian born.

LIKES THRILLERS

Gen. Dwight Eisenhower's library in his trailer is composed mostly of western thrillers. "He likes the kind when there are three men killed in the first paragraph and the hero stands over them with smoking guns," his aide said.

The United States, United Kingdom, France and Germany are normally the four wealthiest nations in the world.

Good Gardening Takes More Than Fancy Equipment

Last year there were some wartime gardeners who had had luck with their crops. Many of these started with a burst of enthusiasm, but in their determined effort to produce a garden better than their neighbours, they bought a lot of equipment without the knowledge of how to use it. This can happen to anyone keen about a job. Throughout the season this year, a little more thought, discussion and study is going to put right the mistakes of last year.

Garden experts say that last year, tons of potential food for Canadian families was lost because Mr. and Mrs. Wartime Gardener were green at the job. This year Mr. and Mrs. W.G. are going to produce that food or know the reason why!

Too Many Horses

Unusual Situation Confronts Farmers In Western Canada

The surplus horse problem in Western Canada has reached such proportions that vigorous action will be required to meet it. Following the example of Saskatchewan, a co-operative marketing organization has been set up in Southern Alberta to see what can be done about the rapidly increasing horse surplus in this province. Those promoting the organization deserve solid backing from the Government and farmers generally.

Some authorities estimate that Western Canada now has 500,000 horses above the number required for farm work and other enterprises using horses. Harassed by labor shortages, many farmers have simply turned their horses to pasture for themselves. They are now devouring grass in the range country that could support many thousands of cattle and sheep. Edmonton Journal.

So when men of General Eisenhower's command act as brothers, not as nationals, they are denying the arrogant Nazi assertions and affirming the fundamentals of the Christian religion, and giving tangible expression to the highest aspirations of democracy—which is self-government under God. Such truly, is the big story of the invasion. —Christian Science Monitor.

August, one of the year's hottest months, is the busiest season for fur dealers in normal times with January second.

Due to intensified German home propaganda—Hitler salute with both hands.

Girls From Many Lands Join R.C.A.F.

A Human Interest Story Of A Farmer In Normandy Who Worked Under War Conditions

(By Edna Jaques)

ONE of the oddest human interest stories to come back from the invasion of Normandy is the story—told by more than one reporter—of the old man plowing in a little field, just up from the sea, turning his careful furrows in the hot sunlight, and never looking up, as hundreds of planes roared in over his head.

After The War

Dover People Think Churchill Will Live At Walmer Castle

Dover people are certain that after the war Mr. and Mrs. Churchill will make their home at Walmer Castle, near Deal. The Premier has the right of occupancy as Warden of the Cinque Ports in succession to the late Lord Willington. Mrs. Churchill recently passed on instructions to the staff, now maintaining the castle, that the furniture and decorations must remain as they are. She is anxious that the historic associations which almost every article in Walmer Castle possesses, should remain unaltered. Ever since the days of the Saxons when the five ports, Sandwich, Dover, Hythe, Romney and Hastings, were part of Britain's defence there has been a Lord Warden. Winchelsea and Rye were added later, but the name Cinque (five) Ports, has never been changed.

Bullets whistled around him, gliders went over packed with troops, but the old man stayed at his job, and never batted an eye. That was holding the home front with a vengeance. The old man knew that he had a job to do and he was doing it. Sowing his warm fields for the harvesting, doing his earnest best to keep up the production of food as the thirty thousands of Normandy would be for his family and for the Germans to send back to Germany for their's.

For this sowing was different. Somehow the old man felt in his heart it would be his, for the first time in years, the wheat and barley would be for his family and for the Germans to send back to Germany for their's.

It is also a fine slant on the character of Normandy people that after nearly five years of the German occupation, of oppression and fear and want, they brought out hidden bottles of rare and costly wine, thrusting them into the hands of the troops as they marched by on the dusty roads that lay so often beside shattered homes.

This is the spirit of Canada's home front also. To carry on until the job is finished.

Our job isn't driving tanks or sniping at someone from the branches of an apple tree, but it's important too. It's sniping at prices if they climb above the level set by the price board. It's driving against inflation with all you've got, along the dusty roads when the going gets mighty monotonous and you wonder if it will end anywhere on earth.

After the fight is finished we on the home front will welcome our boys home. And what is more, we'll not be ashamed to go out and meet them; not if we hold the value of a good honest dollar right where it is now, where it will buy its worth in goods, a new farm, the foothills, a little bed of pure-bred, a white house with a blue roof like those we saw in Normandy.

Let us carry on like the old man with the plow. Never swerving from the straight course we've set ourselves. Keeping busy. Looking ahead to the harvest. Looking fast to the dreams and work that will make possible a golden tomorrow.

Secret Weapon

Hitler's Dream of World Domination By Airpower Proves A Boomerang

By this time the German General Staff is thoroughly informed about the nature of the Allies' principal secret weapon. It is the weapon which the Germans themselves invented for the purpose of achieving world domination. It is airpower. By the thousands the Allied paratroopers have rained down on the soil of Normandy. By the tens of thousands, perhaps, the Allied infantry have come down from the skies in gliders or poured from the plane troop carriers.

There is the old story about the British weather report which is supposed to sum up British complacency. It said: "High gales in Channel. Continent isolated." To the self-confident British mind, 4,000,000 square miles of Europe are isolated from 120,000 square miles of British islands, and not 400,000 Britons isolated from 400,000,000 Europeans. Only it happens that the amusing British way of putting it has turned out to be true. We need only ask Hitler—New York Times.

ALREADY TO GO

A BBC correspondent Stuart M. Pearson, reports that some German prisoners in Normandy surrendered "with suitcases already packed, obviously having no intention of going anywhere but the right way."

THE DIGNITY OF FARM WORK

Some are inclined to look upon work and labour as undignified and as a form of activity they would like to escape from. A short time ago at Saskatoon, Seed Growers gathered together to honour a very great Canadian whey, forty years ago, founded the Canadian Seed
Growers' Association—the late Dr.
Jas. W. Robertson, C.M.G. Here is what Dr. Robertson thought of the dignity of farm labour:

"The main object of mankind during all these centuries of strife and struggle of privation and suffering, as well as of glory of achievement,
has been to make Old Mother Earth a better home for the race. That is the main object of labour on earth—a better home for a better people. The first step is that Old Mother Earth and her children should abundantly, out of the fulness of her fruitation, give us nourishment for body, mind and spirit. The first step is the citizen who carries on the work directly on the land, that is his job—partnership with the Creator in still improving the face of Old Mother Earth. It is not a sordid occupation; it cannot be a coarsening one; it must be in itself refining, since it means partnership with the Almighty, in the making of the new Earth wherein dwell
all righteous men."

Surely no words more elevated or more noble than this have ever been written about farm life.

Hybrid Corn

According to the Bureau of Agricultural Economics of the United States Department of Agriculture, the percentage of total corn acreage in the United States devoted to hybrid corn increased from 0.1 to 10.3 in 1913. In the North Central states, about 70 per cent of the corn crop is produced, the average of hybrid corn increased from 0.2 per cent in 1914 to 75 per cent in 1943.

Obviously, therefore, the future of the hybrid corn and the chief reason is that it yields about 20 per cent more than even polenta varieties. Let us see what the has meant to food production and to the farmers in the North Central states. In 1912, the production was about 2.4 billion bushels. Since 72.9 per cent of the average was composed by hybrid corn, at least 1.75 billion bushels were hybrid. If we assume the increased acreage of hybrid corn, nearly 20 per cent, then one-fourth of 1.75 billion bushels, or 552 million bushels produced in 1942 in the North Central states can be added to the corn production.

This contribution to war food production, not to mention material benefits to farmers, is nothing to be sneezed at. It will interest our readers to know that Dr. H. K. Hayes, University of Minnesota, who was chiefly responsible for the hybrid wheat, has played a prominent part in the hybrid corn breeding work.

Genetic scientists cannot make bricks without straw. If we are wise we shall see that agricultural research is expanded immediately after the war, and that salary scales are adjusted so as to attract the best men available.

ANSWERS for Victory Gardeners

What Kind of a Spray Shall I Use In My Garden Against Insects?

The kind of spray you use depends upon the kind of insect which you must combat. There are two general types of insects, and there are sprays suitable for each. You must consider whether you have chewing or sucking insects and then buy your spray accordingly.

What Is the Difference Between Chewing and Sucking Insects?

Chewing insects have mouth parts. We might say they have teeth, and they eat just like a cow eats grass in the pasture. Many of the eaters not only use their mouths to get food, but they use them also to burrow their way into the plants, thus making themselves a home. Typical of these are the borers which get into the vine crops, and the apple worm which eats its way into the apple. Other eaters live on the leaves of plants and will strip a plant if left alone. On the other hand, the sucking insects have long snouts or bills like a mosquito. They puncture the skin of the plant and draw sap through the snout.

What Are the Methods By Which You Kill the Two Types of Insects?

Most insects at some time in their lives can be destroyed through what we call a contact spray. In other words, a spray which will paralyze and destroy them when it contacts their bodies. Black Leaf 40 is a contact spray and is used on almost all sucking insects. In fact, if it is used faithfully in the garden, it will usually do the entire job. For instance, on potato vines, Black Leaf 40 will kill the Colorado potato beetle in the nymph stage. However, the grown beetles can be readily destroyed with lead arsenate, sprayed on the leaves and at low cost. So we handle potato beetles in that way. On the other hand, lead arsenate is absolutely without effect on aphids. Therefore, Black Leaf 40 is used to control them.

How Shall I Apply Spray In the Garden for Best Results?

There are two important rules to follow for successful spraying. One is to spray early, before the insects become numerous, and the other rule is to spray thoroughly. These rules apply no matter what type of spray material you are using. If you will follow these two rules, your insect problem will largely be solved for you. The

Why Do You Say Spray Early?

The need for spraying early in the season, as such as the garden gets started, lies in the fact that once insects start breeding, each individual increases in tremendous numbers. It is a lot easier to destroy millions of "generations unborn" of insects than to wait until they are hatched. There is no use letting insects get a start on you in trying to solve this problem later! If you spray early in the year and do a good job, your crop will come through with more less attention when it reaches the ripening stage.

Westcott W.I. Report

Twelve visitors met with Mrs. Luft for the June meeting. Roll call was answered by giving the name of a famous woman.

A detailed report of the W.I. Conference was given by Mrs. Helea Klinck. A motion was made and carried that we ask for a fifteen minute intermission at our next conference, giving us the privilege to see the Handicraft exhibits before same is removed.

The topic "Citizenship", taken by Mrs. Baudistel, was followed by a very interesting discussion. Mrs. McFarlane then favoured us with a solo.

The draw was won by Mrs. Baudistel, and the meeting closed in the usual manner.

Rebecca Activities

Due to rainy weather, the meeting for June 14 was postponed until June 28, when it took place at the home of Mrs. A. Walldorf, where seven ladies gathered. Throughout the afternoon cotton driers were sown, and quilt patches cut and put together to make a lovely quilt top.

We wish to extend our thanks to Mr. A. Ross for the kind donation of a fleece of wool. Some of the ladies volunteered to wash it, and they plan to gather some afternoon, and card it.

The next meeting, which is planned for July 26th, is to take place at the home of Betty Broadhurst. We plan to pack parcels for the community boys overseas, and so ask all ladies to attend and bring any convenient sized boxes, some paper and string. We are going to send the boys home-made cookies, donated by the ladies. All the boys expressed their appreciation of the last cookies we sent.

Slight Changes In Prices of Canned Vegetables

Ceiling prices for the 1944 Canadian pack of canned vegetables will be practically the same as last year, the Wartime Prices and Trade Board announces, in issuing an order fixing maximum prices for the present season's production.

Slight changes are made in the ceilings on tomato juice to encourage canning of a high quality product.

INVASION MAKES MORE URGENT THE SAVING OF CIVILIAN GAS!A Message to Canadian Motorists

THE invasion of Europe has thrown a vast and critical burden upon the petroleum resources of the United Nations.

In the first eight days of the campaign alone Allied aircraft flew 56,000 sorties. Many thousands of oil-burning warships and landing barges are shuttling ceaselessly across the Channel. Tanks, trucks, jeeps, mobile artillery, ambulances, by the thousands, are in action.

The driving power behind all this activity is petroleum—gasoline and fuels drawn from a dwindling crude oil supply. But—there is only so much oil. If existing supplies are to prove adequate, the most stringent economy of gasoline and fuel oil must be practised here at home.

Canada is able to produce only 15% of her own gas and oil needs. The remainder must be imported from the common pool of the United Nations and the bulk of this is shipped here by tankers. Critical manpower is needed to produce our gasoline and oil. Precious lives and precious ships must be risked to deliver it to our shores.

Invasions, and the difficulties of supply and transportation are not our only problems. Right here in Canada gas and oil are needed in enormous quantities for vital war purposes. The Commonwealth Air Training Plan has consumed as much as 548,000 gallons in a single day. Canada's Navy—expanded since war began from 15 ships to 650—consumes over 2,150,000 gallons every week. Army training, war plant operation, food production, essential trucking—all are huge consumers of gasoline and petroleum products.

Gasoline is ammunition—ammunition of which we have all too little. To waste a gallon of it is a crime against our fighting men.

Answering Your Questions about the Gasoline Shortage

How much gasoline was consumed during the 54 days of pre-invasion bombing? ... More than 200,000,000 gallons.

How much fuel oil does a battleship take in one refueling? ... Enough to heat an average house for 350 years.

How much fuel does one armoured division consume in every five miles of advance? ... 10,000 gallons.

How many gallons of petroleum products are required to supply the needs of 500,000 European invasion troops for a week? ... Over 25,000,000 gallons.

COMPARE... the cost of raising hogs on GRAIN ALONE— against the cost and high profit of raising hogs on a smaller amount of grain, PLUS the proven SHUR-GAIN HOG CONCENTRATE:

It takes 1100 pounds of grain to raise one hog on GRAIN ALONE ... cost, about $13.75. To this you must add the cost of maintaining the sow, about $3.50 per weaned pig. A total of $17.25.

BUT... feeding the SHUR-GAIN WAY— you need only 700 pounds of grain, plus 50 pounds of SHUR-GAIN HOG CONCENTRATE. The total feed cost, including the cost of maintaining the sow is only $14.05.

Thanks For Services

Given As A Rule To Everyone But Your Doctor

A short time ago a local citizen was operated upon by a surgeon. In due course, a modest bill was rendered, and in sending a remittance the citizen added a few words of thanks for what he deemed the skillful services of the operator. The latter responded with a note of thanks for the prompt payment, but more particularly for your kind words in regard to the results of my work; expressed gratitude is a "rare avia" these days."

It is a curious fact that a man or woman will make a purchase at a grocer's, butcher's, baker's or shoe-maker's, and on receiving the goods which it was very little trouble to the clerk to provide, say "Thank you" and probably pay cash at the same time, or add an expression of thanks to a man who does a repair job around the house. But a doctor may perform a difficult operation which may actually save a person's life, or at least rid him or her of a painful or irksome complaint, and it never enters the minds of most people to say "Thank you very much, Dr. So-and-So" when paying the bill. In many cases they do not even pay the bill, or only pay part of it, yet they would have been glad to offer all they had for treatment or an operation to cure them when they were sick. It probably never occurs to them that the surgeon literally sweated blood in the performing of an operation that called for the intense concentration of all his skill and mental and physical stamina.

In this case the doctor was so surprised at receiving thanks for his services, in addition to the practical mode of expression, that he was moved to express his gratitude for the thanks.

A few words of appreciation to a person who deserves them will turn a heavy heart into a light one; a dull day into sunshine.—St. Thomas Times-Journal.

Will Be Different

Many Improvements To Be Seen In Refrigerator Of Future

Expect the refrigerator of the future to be as different from current mechanical iceboxes as the present-day auto is from the original horseless carriage. Early mechanical refrigerators followed traditional icebox design—the freezing unit went into the top to permit the cold to flow downward. But the present open-front design permits cold air to cascade out whenever the door is opened. It allows no range in refrigeration temperatures. Models now being designed would be of table height with top-opening compartments. Each section would have a temperature range for varied duty as a freezing compartment, for preserving meat, vegetables, or for other uses.—Newsweek.

MUCH CHEAPER

A man from Aberdeen was approached and asked to join a newly formed Anti-Tipping Society.

"We consider that tipping is a degrading custom and have formed a society to put a stop to it," explained the membership-seeker.

"Ay, I'll join," said the man from Aberdeen, gladly.

"That's fine. The subscription is 50 cents a year."

"Och, in that case I'm thinking that it'll be cheaper for me to tip!"

GLOBAL AGRICULTURE

The problems of agricultural reconstruction are of special importance to Canada, but, because the solution of these problems is so directly dependent upon the international factors, it is difficult for any single country to formulate on its own initiative a comprehensive policy of the problems that will confront it in this field.

Council Of British Archaeology To Make A Survey

People of Britain are to be asked to dig for history.

Thousands of amateur archaeologists, to act as observers, will be required if the Council of British Archaeology are able to carry out plans they are making for a nationwide survey after the war.

In a guide to be sent round to local authorities the Council tell observers some of the things they can look for wherever earth is disturbed. Here are some of them:

Any foundations or floors (except of course, those of modern buildings, just destroyed by bombing). They may be only beaten earth, stained black with charcoal, or elaborate mosaics.

Objects, such as tools, weapons or ornament of stone, flint, bone or bronze. Human, burials, or large numbers of animal bones. Coins of silver or bronze. And gold objects, which are subject to the law of treasure trove and finders are rewarded by their full value.—London Evening Standard.

Very Few People In Netherlands Have Co-operated With Nazis

Underground forces in German-occupied Holland are active, despite efforts of the Germans to curb them. Capt. A. van Riemdijk, of Montreal, military representative for the Netherlands government, said in an interview at Edmonton.

Speaking of the work of the Dutch underground, the captain said there are 20 newspapers printed in Holland and published by the movement.

The great majority of the people of the Netherlands look to the day of liberation and are working to that end, he said. Support for the Nazi party does not represent more than four per cent of the population.

Not Strong On Publicity

But British Can Be Depended On For Real Action

The Brockville Recorder and Times says: Not much is being heard or told on this side of the Atlantic of the heroism displayed by the men of famous British regiments in making their landings in Normandy and in the subsequent fighting. This is due to the fact that the British do not go in for our super-heated publicity. But we may be quite certain that, as in every other action since the start of the war, these men covered themselves with glory and also bore the main brunt of the fighting.

German police have discovered 25,000 Union Jacks in a Paris warehouse. The flags were destined for sale on the day the Allied troops entered the French capital.

In another shop huge quantities of British colors were piled up which were to be distributed to those French citizens who were unable to provide themselves with flags, but who nevertheless wanted to show their pro-Allied feelings.

OUR COMPLETE SHORT STORY—

Light From Below

By VANCE C. CRISS

McClure Newspaper Syndicate

The throng about the shaft house of the One Girl Mine tensed forward at the sound of the hoist. News from the depths where men fought to rescue fellow miners trapped by a cave-in, their fate unknown.

Grizzled old Joe Blades, "brung up" in an Ozark mountain mine, stepped from the bucket rim at the ground level. He shot a quick glance over the crowd, strode to Betty Knox, straining grimly at the barrier rope. "They're needin' you down there, Jeff got a bash on the head."

Betty stiffened. "If Jeff Logan thinks I'll run when he whistles, even if he—"

"Jeff didn't whistle. Doc Carney wants somebody. Come on!"

Joe Blades turned back toward the shaft. Betty Knox fell in behind him. The grizzled miner grasped the cable stepped on to the bucket rim. The girl followed suit, one foot each side of the bucket handle opposite Blades.

Betty's heart pounded as the hoist eased them down. Her first descent since that last quarrel with Jeff Logan! Her first meeting since then with the young owner who had named the One Girl Mine for her!

The bucket settled on the rock floor at the foot of the shaft. Betty stepped off, walked slowly toward Dr. Carney who was kneeling above Jeff Logan. Jeff saw her, turned his face to the wall. "I told Doc I didn't need any nursemaid," he mumbled. "I don't need your help."

"I know you don't," Betty fumed. "All you got is a knock on the head, and you're so everlasting nule-headed!"

"Yes, and you're so everlasting stubborn!"

"Please! Please!" Dr. Carney urged.

The young physician retained his professional poise with difficulty. A newcomer to the hills, he had fallen in love with Betty Knox—was determined to win her. Yet here she was with the man to whom she recently was engaged—the man who had just risked his life to rescue one of his workmen. And, in addition, a young couple who could forget danger to storm at each other, might not be so far apart as they thought.

"If the whole mine caved in on you," Betty snapped at Jeff Logan, "it wouldn't make a dent in your stubborn pride."

"Please! Please!" Dr. Carney interrupted again. "Can't you remember we're—" he broke off to whirl on Joe Blades. "I told you not to bring Miss Knox down here. Haven't you any sense at all?"

"Beckon I'm 'bout the only one down here that has sense," the old miner drawled. "Betty stay in your own drift, Doc, or—"

He broke off as little Willie Hargis staggered toward them. "No use trying through that fallen rock any more," Hargis said. "Too risky. We'll have to wait for the crew to blast to 'em from the No. 3 drift."

"I'll take a fling at it," Joe Blades remarked, and headed toward the cave-in.

"Joe! Come back here!" Logan called, struggling to his feet as the old man reluctantly halted. "I'll try again."

"Jeff Logan," Betty snapped, "can't you be anything but a stubborn fool?"

"I'll go," Dr. Carney announced. "I'll go."

"No! No!" Betty protested. "You're not a miner. You can't help to do any good."

"I'll go," Dr. Carney repeated, headed back toward the tumbled wall of jagged rock.

Betty Knox stared after him, knowing he didn't want to go, why he forced himself on. Turning, she saw Jeff Logan waver dizzily. Fighting back the tears she stared alternately at him and at the hole where the young physician had disappeared.

"You'll be responsible for that man's death, Jeff Logan," Betty whispered.

There was a rumble of grinding rocks. Jeff Logan started fiercely toward the jumbled mass that blocked the drift. Betty grabbed him. "Jeff! You mustn't! You're not strong enough!"

The young mine owner shook her off, strode on, crawled into the death tunnel.

Agonizing minutes passed while the two men who had meant most in Betty's life were gone. Joy flooded her when Jeff Logan, crawling out first, dragged the young physician into the dim mine light—and safety.

"Doc'll soon be all right," he said.

Mother. Maud, were you a good little girl at church today?

Maud. Yes, mother. A man offered me a big plate of money, and I said, "No, thank you."

"I don't want your thanks," Jeff Logan broke in.

"I don't want to thank you," Betty declared with a stamp of her foot. Then, with quivering lips, she added: "I—I want my ring back, Jeff."

Safety First

There Are Too Many Accidents On Canadian Farms

The cold truth is that the ratio of preventable accidents in agriculture is higher than in any other industry. Many hundreds of farmers, members of their families and workers on farms are killed and many thousands injured every year in Canada as the result of accidents, most of which could have been prevented.

With the farm labour shortage just now so acute and when all out production of food is so essential to the war effort, the accident toll is particularly serious.

A survey has disclosed that machinery is the chief source of farm work accidents; that live stock runs a close second and that falls are in third place. The wise farmer is he who learning the causes of accidents on his farm takes steps to eliminate such causes and all possible hazards. For example, the fact that loose clothing causes one-third of all farm accidents involving machinery should make anyone avoid that particular hazard like the plague.

And the ever-present threat of fire, which annually destroys millions of dollars worth of rural property, ought to be enough for a farmer to justify devoting at least a part of one morning per month to looking round the farm for fire hazards, and accident hazards, too.

Prevention of accidents means avoiding making an acute farm labour shortage more acute and also means an even bigger contribution to food production.

Safety First is a good slogan for any farm.

No Gasoline Worries

Chatham, Ontario, Woman Drives Electric Car Built In 1919

Although gasoline and tire rationing throughout the war years have affected all motorists to some degree, there is one woman in Ontario to whom these restrictions haven't meant a thing as far as her own motoring is concerned. She is Mrs. Robert Gray, 141 William St. S., Chatham, owner and driver of the only electric car in operation in the province. Mrs. Gray, who is over 80 years of age, is the wife of the former Gray Dart motor car manufacturer.

Mrs. Gray requires no gasoline ration book and, while other motorists have had to curtail their driving or lay up their cars for the duration, Mrs. Gray continues to drive at will about the city and country, although she hasn't taken any long motor trips in some time.

Although it was manufactured in 1919 the car handles easier and is more economical to operate than any car today. Power is supplied by 42 batteries, each of two volts, and weighing a total of 1,400 pounds.

Germans Have Put 300,000 Acres In Holland Under Water

Nearly 300,000 acres of farmland in the coastal areas of the Netherlands have been flooded as a result of German anti-invasion measures, according to the Dutch underground paper "Ons Volk" (Our People). The flooding of this farmland, the paper said, would mean the loss of 66,138,000 pounds of wheat, 19,841,400 pounds of beans, 17,636,800 pounds of oats, 88,184,000 pounds of sugar, 22,046,000 pounds of fruits, and 881,840,000 pounds of potatoes.
